

Q. What do you call hundreds of people who stutter in the same room?

A. An experience you'll never forget.

NATIONAL STUTTERING ASSOCIATION
ANNUAL CONFERENCE AND RESEARCH SYMPOSIUM
SCOTTSDALE, ARIZONA
JULY 8th — JULY 12th, 2009

We're the National Stuttering Association (The NSA), the world's largest self-help group for people who stutter. As our annual conference approaches, we want to take the time to remind and invite our friends in the speech pathology world about this very special event.

For the first time, our annual conference is coming to the Southwest – to beautiful Scottsdale, Arizona. It will be held at the Westin Kierland Resort & Spa from July 8-12, 2009. Special rates have been secured for people attending the conference. Even better, financial assistance is available to people who stutter (and their families) who attend the conference. SLPs should contact the NSA office to help identify people who would benefit from this assistance.

It's a unique opportunity for children who stutter, (and their parents) adults and teens who stutter, as well as speech language pathologists. It truly is an educational experience for every person who attends. This year's conference will include:

- A three-day youth program including workshops for school-age children and their parents, and activities for the entire family.
- A research symposium featuring five top researchers presenting cutting-edge research information on pharmaceuticals, genetics, fluency devices, behavioral therapy, and concomitance.
- Keynote speakers and dozens of workshops to help people who stutter learn from experts and see how people are coping successfully with stuttering.
- A chance for SLPs to earn up to 13 hours of ASHA Continuing Education credits and network with leading fluency specialists.

You can register for the conference online at www.WeStutter.org or by calling the NSA office at 800-We-Stutter (800-937-8888).
